THE COURT MARTIAL.

Enquiry on Board the Flagship Into the Accident to H. M. S. Amphion.

Continuance of the Evidence—The Commission Still in Progress.

Esquimalt, Nov. 14.—The following is the continuation of Lieut. Chads' evidence, the first portion of which has already been published:

Q—Who altered the indicator? A—Mr. Barrett.

Q—Did you not, as officer of the watch, satisfy yourself that the order had been understood and acted on? A—I had no reason to believe it had not been acted on. At the time the alteration was made I was on the lower bridge. Lt. Barrett told me he had made the alteration. I went to the indicator then and saw that the alteration had been made.

Q—What signal is usually made from the engine room in reply to an alteration of the indicator? A—Two short rings.

Q—Did you hear any rings? A—No.

Q—Would you not from the fire bridge? A—Not necessarily.

Q—When the Lloyd's indicator was altered to 30 revolutions at 11:40, did you hear the answer from the engine room? A—No.

Q—Where were you then? A—On the lower bridge.

Q—How long after reading to 30 revolutions was it before the engines were reversed? A—About five minutes.

Q—During that time did the speed of the ship appear to slacken? A—Yes.

Q—How do you account for this since the speed was not altered in the interval? A—The vibration seemed to be less, and I did not notice anything that would lead me to suppose the order had been disregarded.

Q—The speed for 90 revolutions being fifteen knots, and for 30 revolutions five knots, how do you account for the high speed not being noticed? A—Just after the indicator had been altered to 30 revolutions I remarked to Lt. Barrett that I did not suppose they would come down at once so low, but would in a minute or so. I further account for not noticing the speed to the way the ship had on.

Q—Is it customary for the navigating lieutenant to alter revolutions in the absence of the captain without reference to the officer of the watch? A—In a similar case, yes, acquainting the officer of the watch with what he was doing.

Q—Can you see the revolution dial over the engine from where you keep watch? A—No.

Q—You were judging of the position of the ship to a certain extent by time. Do you think that judgment at all accurate as the revolutions appear to have been so uneven? A—As after events had proved, yes.

Q—But judging by time as to the position of the ship, it must have been purely a matter of luck, was it not? A—No; calculation.

Q—Has the officer of the watch any means of ascertaining how many revolutions a ship is going, on the bridge? A—Not without being informed.

Q—Where then is the indicator? A—About the mainmast. The indicator on the bridge is not in working order and never has been since the ship was finished.

Q—What do you suppose was the speed of the ship two minutes before she struck? A—Between five and six knots.

Q—Is the ship fitted with a taffrail log so that at any moment speed and revolutions can be ascertained? A—No.

Q—Knowing the ship was steering towards Kellett's Bluff did you take any other means to check the speed beyond varying the revolutions? A—No.

Q—Were you aware that the tide was with you, and of its speed? A—Yes.

Q—What did you think the speed was? A—I knew that we were allowing about a mile during the run. I mean from Discovery Island to the Bluff. From 11:10 till we should alter the course around Kellett's Bluff.

Court adjourned until 1:30.

The examination of Lieutenant Chads was resumed on the re-opening of the court at 1:30.

In qualification of an answer made in the morning, the witness stated that no time was he in charge of the ship.

Cross-examined by Capt. Hulton:

Q—Is it not my custom to retain command of the ship with the assistance of the lieutenant navigating from the time I leave the harbor until I formally hand her over to the officers of the watch? A—Yes.

Q—Had I done so on that morning? A—You had not handed her over to me.

Q—Were you considering it your duty on my behalf to closely watch the course, leadsman and lookout? A—Yes.

Q—Are you satisfied as officer of the watch with the handiness of the ship in her steering, and that you can steer her steadily to half a degree of the compass card? A—Perfectly; and with care, yes.

Q—Were you perfectly satisfied with the accurate steering of Andrew Dunn, A.B., the helmsman? A—Yes, I have always found him a good helmsman.

Q—Have you had much experience with the Lloyd's indicator on board? A—It has been in constant use since we have been with the fleet.

Q—Have you ever known it to fail prior to this occasion? A—No.

Q—Have you ever seen the indicator used in steam tactics in close order? A—Yes.

Q—Did you see me work the indicator at 10:50 when we eased to 60 revolutions? A—I saw you working the indicator just after I came on the bridge, and saw that you had put it to 60.

Q—Did you again see me work it at 11:05? A—Yes.

Q—What did you see it at? A—Ninety.

Q—Did you hear the reply bell from the engine room? A—I don't remember.

Q—Are you aware that the reply bell is in the wheel house, not in the chart house? A—Yes.

Q—Do you recollect seeing Zero rock beacon in the afternoon before you were relieved? A—I think so.

Q—Are you satisfied that Zero rock beacon was sighted in the forenoon? A—Yes.

Q—Do you know if anyone else observed the beacon? A—I think that I remarked that I could see it, but don't remember anyone else mentioning the fact.

The cross-examination of a technical nature was continued until 2 o'clock.

Q—Was there any panic or confusion when the ship struck? A—No, not the slightest.

Navigating Lieut. Lea and Staff-Commander Thompson, of the Champion, were the next witnesses. They were called in to prove the inaccuracy or accuracy of the chart and position of the vessel when she struck.

Richard Paul, quartermaster of the watch, was the next witness.

Q.—Do you remember what course you were steering between 11 and 12 on the 6th inst. A—North, 20 deg. west.

Q—Were you at the wheel yourself, or only at the compass? A—I was at the compass.

Q—What orders did you have to alter that course? A—Hard to starboard.

Q—Who gave that order? A—Lieut. Barrett.

Q—How long after that order was it before the ship struck? A—Two or three minutes.

Q—About how long did it take to put the helm over? A—A minute and a half.

Q—Was the ship quite steady on her course from the time she shaped it until she struck? A—One-half degree each way.

Michael Healey, lookout man, was next examined.

Q—Were you placed at the lookout on the boom of the Amphion between 11 and 12 on the 6th inst? A—Yes.

Q—What were your orders? A—To look out for land or any wreckage.

Q—What did you report? A—Land ahead and very close.

Q—Did that land extend across the bow or was it on one bow? A—Across the bow.

Q—About how long before the ship struck. A—About 5 to 7 minutes.

Mr. Edward Davis, boatswain, examined.

Q—Where were you stationed between 11 and 12 forenoon on the 6th inst., on the Amphion? A—On the top gallant forecastle.

Q—Which side? A—Port side.

Q—Did you hear report of land ahead, and by whom? A—By leading seaman stationed on jibboom.

Q—Did you see the land yourself? A—I did.

Q—Where was it? A—On starboard bow.

Q—Did it extend across the bow? A—Yes, about a point.

Q—Did you hear the order given, "helm hard a starboard"? A—I did.

Q—Was it given at once and by whom? A—Yes; by Navigating Lieutenant Barrett.

By the defence:—

Q—Did you get orders direct from me? A—Yes, sir.

Q—What were they? A—Not to leave top-gallant fo'c'sle until relieved, see to lookout men and look out myself.

Q—What interval of time elapsed between sighting land and striking? A—Struck almost immediately.

Q—Are you bo'sun of the ship? A—Yes.

Q—What was the interval between the ship striking and collision mat being placed? A—About 5 or 6 minutes.

W. T. H. Ramsay, chief engineer, examined:—

Q—Where were you between 11 and 12 o'clock on the 6th inst.? A—On the engine-room platform from 11:30 to 11:35 conducting vice-regal party over the engine room.

Q—At what speed were the engines going at the time, from 11:35, and time of striking? A—About 90 revolutions.

Q—Were they going the number of revolutions the whole of that period? A—They were increasing about that time, though having varied.

Q—What did the dial of the engine-room show? A—Full speed.

Q—What was the indicator? A—85 revolutions.

Q—Was that altered during the period? A—No.

Q—What were your last orders from the captain with regard to the steam? A—Engine-room indicator to be kept at half-speed until further orders.

Q—Did the dial in the engine-room and chart house coincide? A—They were tested; one read 85, the other 90.

Q—How long after the engine-room telegraph was given did you go full speed on? A—About five seconds.

Q—How did the screws work? A—The screws worked almost instantaneous.

Q—How do you account for the non-efficiency of Lloyd's indicator? A—Had no account. Always accurate. I believe so now, as it has been tested since.

Adjourned till 10 a. m. Friday.

TO-DAYS PROCEEDINGS.

Esquimalt, Nov. 15.—The court martial assembled on board the flagship at Esquimalt this morning at 10 o'clock to continue the enquiry into the circumstances attending the accident to H. M. S. Amphion and into the conduct of her captain and navigating lieutenant, in connection therewith. Witness, W. T. Ramsay, chief engineer, completed his evidence.

Witness, Lieut. Leagh—Do you con-

Prominent Man Dead — New Gold Field—Frost in California.

Jeff Davis in Good Health—A Well Explodes—Public Execution.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 15.—Wm. Nathan Harrels Smith, chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme court, died here this afternoon aged 77. He served in Congress from 1860 to '61, and in the Confederate Congress during its entire existence. He was appointed Chief Justice in January, 1877.

NEW GOLD FIELDS.

New York, Nov. 15.—A new gold field has been discovered on the river Principella, 170 miles from San Juan Del Norte. It extends several square miles into virgin forests. A gold mining company is forming in Nanagua with a capital of $30,000.

J. L. SULLIVAN.

Boston, Nov. 15.—The California Athletic Club telegraphed to John L. Sullivan asking what money he wants to meet Jackson at the club rooms.

John L. Sullivan will be no longer connected with the Sporting News as sporting editor. The reason given by the management is that the journal is to cut down expenses.

BOYS IN MISCHIEF.

Waynesburg, Pa., Nov. 15.—A number of boys who had rigged up a feed cutter in an abandoned building, brought natural gas in through a pipe in such a way as to put the feeder in motion. They were badly burnt yesterday by one of the boys lighting a match close by. An explosion followed. None of the boys were injured fatally.

THE CATHOLIC CONGRESS.

Baltimore, Nov. 15.—Delegates to the Catholic congress visited to-day the various points of interest here. The line of carriages was over a mile in length. A banquet was served to the visitors at St. Mary's Industrial school this evening and they will be given a public reception at the city hall. Governor Jackson and many public officials will be present.

DYNAMITE FACTORIES.

City of Mexico, Nov. 15.—A bill has been favorably considered in the Chamber of Deputies for the establishment of three dynamite factories with American capital.

ONE LIFE OF BURKE.

Milwaukee, Nov. 15.—The Daily News has discovered that Burke, in the Cronin case, lived here for several years under the name of Delaney, and was very active in Clan-na-Gael affairs. It is alleged he came here from Hancock, Michigan. Soon after his arrival here a number of prominent Irishmen took a great deal of interest in him and tried to get him a position in the postal service. He was an ardent Blaine man, but they failed and he soon went to Chicago.

POSTMASTER SENTENCED.

Indianapolis, Nov. 15.—Wm. B Denny, defaulting postmaster of Booneville, was to-day sentenced to 15 months imprisonment and fined $6,500, the full amount of his stealings. He confessed that the money was lost in gambling.

A MILL EXPLODES.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 15.—The artificial generator at Ætna Rolling Mill here, exploded yesterday afternoon. Eight men near by were scattered in every direction and five were terribly burned, one it is thought fatally. The mill was not much damaged.

HIGH PRICES FOR MEAT.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Commercial Agent Smith, at Mayence, Germany, reports the prevalence of high prices for meat in Germany. United States beef is in demand, but brings poor prices.

FATAL BLAST.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 15.—News reached here this morning that Sullivan, foreman, John Dell, a Finn, A. W. Larson, T. O'Leary and Hall Ross were killed and two men had their eyes blown out by a blast on the construction branch of the Northern Pacific road, fifteen miles east of here Tuesday night.

PUBLIC EXECUTION.

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—V. Solomayor, a notorious criminal and murderer was executed in the public square in Panama on Oct. 26th. The execution was in military form and two squads of soldiers fired at the criminal.

SALOONS OPEN.

Tulare, Cal., Nov. 15.—Five of the twelve saloons which closed last week because of the new liquor license, opened this morning, having decided to pay the same.

FIRST ICE.

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—Dispatches from central and southern California this morning report the first frost of the season. In some places ice half an inch thick has formed.

Smokers of Cigarettes who have not tried Special Favors have missed a treat. Special Favors have met with general approval.

Special Favors can be recommended to those who appreciate a really choice Cigarette.

STUDENTS GAMBLE.

Boston, Nov. 15.—Eight Harvard college students were convicted of gambling yesterday and each fined $25.

WHITE CAPS AGAIN.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov., 15.—This town is being terrorized by "White Caps." Yesterday they attempted to burn the residence of Attorney G. A. Lawson, one of the finest houses in the place. Many well known citizens have received threatening letters from the band.

NEW STEAMER COMING.

New York, Nov. 15.—The steamboat City of Kingston, one of the swift Hudson River boats, has been sold to the Northern Pacific company for use on the Pacific coast. The price is $175,000. She sails to-day for the coast via Cape Horn.

U. P. EARNINGS.

Boston, Nov. 15.—The gross earnings of the Union Pacific railroad's entire system for September were $3,818,584; being an increase over the same month last year of $207,976. The net earnings are $1,617,163, an increase of $204,989 for the nine months ending Sept. 30th. Gross earnings are $20,168,724, a decrease from same period of last year of $408, 527; net earnings $10,566,462, an increase of $250,451.

WHALERS ARRIVE.

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—The whaling bark, Andrew Hicks, arrived from Fox Island last night with 3,800 pounds of bone. The whaling steamer, Thrasher, came in this morning with 750 barrels of oil and 12,500 pounds of bone.

A MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR.

New York, Nov. 15.—Charles Brown, twenty years of age, of Pennsylvania avenue, Newark, N. J., was found this morning in the hallway of 231 West 16th street, with a bullet hole in the right temple. He was unconscious and was taken to the New York hospital where he died a few hours after. The police say Brown and a man named Cox called upon a young woman named Marie Haruf, who occupies rooms in the building. They quarrelled about the woman and Cox shot Brown. Brown was an employee of a large grocery.

The man arrested on a charge of having shot young Brown this morning was arraigned in Jefferson Market Court. He declared his name to be John Lea and that Cox was an assumed name. He was also employed by the same firm as Brown. He denied emphatically that he had had shot Brown and declared the latter committed suicide in a fit of jealousy, because the girl they called upon had shown him more attention than his friend. He remained in jail.

BICYCLIST DEAD.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Ellis B. Frestman, member of the Genessee bicycle club, who recently contested in the road race from Buffalo to this city, died yesterday, the result of over-exertion in the race. He was 28 years old and leaves a widow and one child.

JEFF. DAVIS.

Beloir, Miss., Nov. 15.—A dispatch from Beauvoir says the special from Mississippi City is purely sensational. General Joseph R. Davis, his nephew, says Jefferson Davis will arrive in New Orleans to-day. This is fully confirmed by Mrs. Howell, Mr. Davis' mother-in-law, whom the correspondent called upon and who says she had the letters from Beauvoir on Wednesday stating Davis and other members of the family were in good health.

BIG FIRE.

Denoplis, Ala, Nov. 15.—A fire started this morning in the Denoplis Oil Mill and is now burning furiously. Loss will be more than $300,000; insured for $55,000.

BASEBALL.

New York, Nov. 15.—It was 11 o'clock before the American baseball association got down to business. Then Kansas City's tender of withdrawal from the association was considered, after accepting the letter of withdrawal. Then they proceeded to elect a president and Lench Phelps of Louisville was elected by a vote of 4 to 1.

CANADIAN CULLINGS.

The Telegraphic News from the East Boiled Down.

Monsignor Sotolli, delegate of His Holiness Pope Leo to Baltimore, will visit Quebec after the celebration there.

A cablegram from London announces the death of Rev. Dr. Hatch, at one time professor in Trinity University, Toronto.

Robert Brien, time-keeper at Grey's mill, a machinery works in Toronto, has been arrested on a charge of setting fire to the place.

The semi-annual statement of the Bank of Montreal shows that after the payment of 5 per cent. dividend on the first of December, there will be over $700,000 to carry forward.

Hon Senator Trudell, Montreal, is confined to the Hotel Dieu by a serious illness. On Sunday evening his physicians feared the worst, and though he was somewhat better to-day, his case is a serious one.

The death of Andrew B. McKinlay, head of the firm of A. & W. McKinlay, Halifax, is announced by cable from England, whither he went in search of health. Deceased was a retired colonel in the 63rd Rifles.

Henry Rogers, of Toronto, has taken action for $15,000 against the Canadian Express Company for the death of his son, an express messenger in their employ who was killed by an explosion of fireworks in one of the company's cars.

Ambrose Lepine, Riel's lieutenant in the Northwest rebellion of 1870, is in Montreal. Speaking of his programme for the future he says: "When I go back to my country, as I hope to with a title to my property in my pocket, I intend to work with all my power against the abolition of the French language. We have a right to the Catholic religion and the French language, and we must insist on having our rights. I will not say that it will come to rebellion, but the whole country is up."

THE BOAT RACE.

McLean Defeats Bush Easily by Ten Boat-Lengths.

To use the language of the streets, those who backed Bush have "got it in the neck," the race between him and McLean having been won by the latter by about ten lengths. The start was made from opposite Jones' boat house at five minutes past two this afternoon, both men getting away at the word "go," given by Mr. Broderick, the veteran starter. Bush took a slight lead, and held it well to the swing bridge; as this was being shot past, Mclean came up and struck Bush's boat, knocking his right oar out of his hand, and generally mixing himself up. While McLean was getting straightened out, Bush got about 100 yards ahead and his backers were certain that they had a sure thing, but McLean with dogged perseverance kept pegging away, gaining slowly, and by the time the island was reached McLean was close upon him. In rounding the island he again touched Bush's boat, and when they opened out McLean was ahead. Pulling an even stroke, he soon widened the breach; Bush lost heart when he saw he was behind, and although he kept pulling, it was with but a forlorn hope of winning for McLean was in as good shape as at the start, while Bush looked distressed. Coming under the bridge on the return McLean was pulling finely about fifteen lengths in advance, but he eased up a bit at the finish, coming in a good ten lengths winner, in 25 minutes and 30 seconds.

It is very evident that Bush's day as a boat puller is on the wane. McLean is a much lighter and older man, and has beaten him easily, coming in fresh as paint while Bush was petered out completely. The fire department men have backed their man well, as did many other Victorians, over $1670 being in Frank Campbell's hands alone on him, but no very great growl has been heard.

One thing Victorians can congratulate themselves on, and that is in being good losers for everybody appeared good natured. The last two events have been enough to try their patience too. But better luck next time.

NELSON CITY LOTS.

Good Prices Obtained—The Sale to be Continued To-Night.

The sale of Nelson City lots by J. P. Davies & Co., this afternoon was well attended, bidding being brisk. The prices ranged from $60 to $165 per lot, and average of $100 each being obtained. The chief buyers were Messrs. Robt. Ward, T. R. Smith, Jas. Fell, Jas. Hutcheson, W. H. Ellis, Dr. T. R. Jones, A. Henderson, W. P. Sayward, H. Jacoby, H. F. Heisterman, B. G. Hall, W. Ralph, W. Christie, Matthew Hooper and C. F. Gamble.

The sale will be continued this evening at 7:30 o'clock in Bourchier & Higgins' office on Government street. The sale this evening will be the last of the season, and has been arranged so that those unable to attend this afternoon may be able to buy to-night.

Music on the Hill.

The band of C. I. D. will provide music at Beacon Hill to-morrow, beginning about 3 p. m.

Re-establishment of an Ecclesiastical Court in Malta Proposed.

The Report of Jules Ferry's Death—Buried in a Cave, Etc,

Vienna, Nov. 15.—It is reported that the mission of Sir John Simmons to Rome is to offer to the Holy See the re-establishment of an ecclesiastical court in Malta as it existed at the time of the Grand Master of the Maltese Order. In return the British will ask that the Catholic bishop of Malta should be raised to the rank of Metropolitan and made Primate of all Catholic Apostolic Missions and Vicarates in English possessions in Africa.

PARIS WAS EXCITED.

Paris, Nov. 15.—A report was suddenly sprung upon the city this morning that Jules Ferry was dead. It caused much excitement, but was not generally credited. Inquiry was made in proper quarters and it was ascertained that the rumor was wholly unfounded.

TWENTY MINERS ABANDONED.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—There is no chance of the rescue of the twenty miners who were buried by the cave in of a coal mine at Ratibor yesterday.

FIRE ON BOARD.

Liverpool, Nov. 15.—While the steamer Alaska from New York was unloading at the Alexandra dock to-day the cargo took fire and one hundred bales of cotton were damaged. The vessel was not damaged.

MRS. BESANT'S SUIT.

London, Nov.—The suit of Mrs. Besant, the socialist writer and agitator, against the Rev. Mr. Haskyns of Stepney, for libel in stating in an election board circular that Mrs. Besant regarded chastity as a crime and unbridled sensuality as a virtue, ended to-day in a disagreement of the jury. The judge's charge was strongly against the plaintiff.

WESTMINSTER ASSIZES.

Results of Some of the Cases—Sentences Imposed.

Special to THE TIMES.]

New Westminster, Nov. 15.—The court of assizes resumed its sitting at 10 o'clock Sir Matthew B. Begbie on the bench.

The case of Regina vs. Ah Ying for assault with intent on one Soo You was called. The prisoner pleaded not guilty. He was finally convicted and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. A. St. George Hammersley appeared for the crown and Mr. McColl for the prisoner.

Chung Chow, for the larceny of chickens from one of his countrymen at Port Moody, was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment with hard labor.

THE CAPITAL

Col. Herchmer will have to Resign—Lepine a Suppliant.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 15.—Ambrose Lepine, Riel's lieutenant in the first Red River rebellion, is here endeavoring to get from the government the land confiscated from him for the part he played in the uprising. It is not likely he will succeed.

Commissioner Herchmer, of the Northwest mounted police, has made himself so obnoxious to the people of the Northwest and the police force that he will have to resign.

ILL FARES VICTORIA

So Long As She Hows the Knee to the Treasury.

Special to THE TIMES.

Ottawa, Ont. Nov. 15.—The Free Press this evening referring to the wail of the Colonist against the Dominion Government for setting apart that portion of Esquimalt harbor, known as Constance Cove, for the exclusive use of the British navy says: "What are the representatives of Victoria about? Have they no influence with the federal authorities? It appears not, and so long as the people of British Columbia send men to parliament who think their whole duty is to act as marionettes for men who happen to be in office, they may expect to have their complaints derided and their influence sacrificed."

DECLINES A PEERAGE.

Sir James' Hannen Like a Good Father Considers His Children.

New York, Nov. 15.—The Mail and Express' London cable says it is stated that Sir James Hannen will decline to accept a peerage which it is understood Lord Salisbury will offer him for his services to the Conservative party in his conduct of the Times' case against Mr. Parnell. His reason for this is that his elevation to the peerage would injure the prospects of his oldest son, Chetty Hannen, who is registrar in the probate court, of which Sir James, himself, is president. Mr. Hannen is looked upon as a rising barrister.

Sir Henry James is suffering from cold and is quite hoarse, but it is not likely he will ask the court to adjourn on his account.

Marine Gossip.

The schooner Katrina sailed for the west coast of the island last night.

A $60,000 stern wheeler is to be built at Seattle to run between that port and Tacoma.

The steamer Umatilla, bound south, left the outerwharf at one o'clock this afternoon.

Heavy freights still continue to arrive from Mainland and Sound ports.

The steamer Sardonyx left for the north this afternoon with a heavy cargo and several passengers.

The steamboat inspectors of Seattle are to hold an enquiry into the burning of the steamer Libby.

A sailing scow which left Saanich ten days ago loaded with brick for Vancouver has not been heard of since and it is thought she has been lost in the gulf.

The steamer City of Kingston has left New York for Seattle, and should arrive at the latter port about the middle of January next. Another vessel like her is to be built at Cramp's shipyard to cost about $200,000, and to be finished and in Seattle harbor inside of a year. The new vessel will be 161 feet in length, with a speed of 20 knots an hour, and will have sleeping accommodation for 365 persons.

One of the results of Saturday night's gale at Vancouver was the wreck of the set-boat Oriole. Her owners had only recently purchased her for trade between there and Westminster, and she was on her way to the latter place when the misfortune overtook her. The Oriole was insured in security for the remainder of the purchase money, so that her new proprietors are probably losers to a considerable extent. Two hundred dollars in cash which they had on board was through some accident also lost.

THE NEW WESTMINSTER SITUATION.

The Columbian of Wednesday contains a very silly editorial, in reply to the charge that the wire-pullers of New Westminster had agreed to barter their convictions for a few thousands promised by the government for a courthouse. The article does not call for a reply. It is excessively vain and pair fully pointless, and was very probably written by the editor. The more enterprising and abler morning journal, Truth, says of the situation.

"If the canvass in this city is to be taken as a sample of the general run of similar events all over the province, the scene will soon present itself of the legislative assembly at Victoria being turned into nothing better than an authorized prize ring, where envy, hatred, malice and all uncharitableness will assert itself amongst the members thereof, whose sole object will be to struggle for all they are worth in the effort to prevent each other getting anything which they have any ambition to get for themselves. That such is the idea New Westminster electors have of politics is demonstrated in the very fact that they had no questions to ask their candidates beyond what they were prepared to obtain for them, and in their fiery selfishness they gave no thought to what any other parties would have to forego in order that they might win their suit. The candidates in their turn, while not equally solicitous in their efforts to please the peculiar views of their clients, endeavored to promise too much in order to gain the franchise which they evidently believe will fall to the man who undertakes the most."

That is about the position. To grab all they can out of the treasury is the beginning and end of the political creed of one-half of the politicians in British Columbia. And who is responsible for this condition of affairs? Who has fostered and encouraged it by a debasing system of rewards and punishments, administered in accordance to the amount of support or opposition given by the representatives to the government? We venture the assertion that there is more bribery in British Columbia than in any other province in the Dominion, and that the government is responsible therefor. In no other province do the government and people come so closely together, or have such direct business relations. A school is wanted—the government is asked for it. A culvert has to be built across a road in a backwoods settlement—the government is first consulted. A courthouse is required in Westminster; it can be procured by New Westminster electing a supporter and tool of the government; and so on in many other organized municipalities or unorganized districts throughout the whole province. A species of bribery, as immoral and scandalous as ever disgraced the election courts of Ontario, is practised and practised successfully. The most deplorable feature of this vicious system is that it cannot be assailed in the courts. ROSSER is a legalized briber, and, unfortunately for the country, he has not that high regard for public morality which would prevent him from taking advantage of his position. Of course New Westminster will get its courthouse, and what then? Will the politicians go out and hang themselves?

THE COLONIST "COVE."

It is quite impossible for the Colonist to be honest, or straightforward, or manly, when discussing the attitude of THE TIMES on any public question. The subcutaneous injection of new blood, we regret to see, has not improved the old body in the least, and some more drastic remedy—such as a surgical operation—will be necessary to restore our venerable friend to sound mental and bodily vigor. Because THE TIMES cannot take the worst possible view of the Constance Cove order and refuses, for the present, to accuse the government of which the Colonist is the "organ" with harbouring a desire to ruin the commerce of Victoria, we are accused of pandering to a "contemptible little faction," and with looking at every question through "distorting party spectacles," etc. The writer, evidently a novice, does not understand the meaning of the language he employs. The "contemptible little faction" can only refer to the Admiralty and the officers and men of the fleet, together with all the citizens of Esquimalt and Victoria who are personally interested in seeing that every possible accommodation compatible with the demands of commerce, is given the squadron. This is not a "political" or "party" question, although it may have on one side a "personal" bearing of which the public as yet know nothing. But if our contemporary, either by reason of the ambiguity of our words or through its own obtuseness, has failed to understand the position of THE TIMES, we will endeavor to enlighten it. THE TIMES, recognizing the importance of Esquimalt as a naval station, is "for" Victoria so much that it will not lend itself to any agitation that can only result in injury to Victoria. We refuse to believe that the government, of which the Colonist is an "organ," has absolutely set aside for the exclusive use of the navy so much of Esquimalt harbor as to interfere with the demands of commerce. The harbor is one of the finest and largest on the Pacific coast, and will afford ample accommodation for all classes of vessels. If, however, the political friends of the Colonist have been guilty of the piece of imbecility with which their "organ" accuses them, and merchant ships are thereby placed at a disadvantage, THE TIMES will join hands with its Tory confrere and assist it in obtaining a modification of the order, or, if that be impossible, in returning two opponents of the enemies of Victoria at the next general election.

ANIMAL CARCASS ALL UTILIZED.

So soon as a steer goes to the slaughter house now-a-days, the only thing that is wasted is his dying breath, and if it were possible to find some use for that, no doubt it would be caught and preserved. Nothing else is wasted, from the tip of the tongue to the brush on the end of the tail. The blood is caught and sold to make albumen for sugar refiners and other manufacturers, one use of it being the cheap substitute for hard rubber and other plastic material used in the manufacture of buttons and other materials. Next the hide is taken off, and after the meat is dressed, the contents of the stomach are removed and dried and baled for manure, and the stomach itself is prepared as tripe. The hide goes to the tanner, the head is skined and denuded of flesh for the sausage maker, the horns are knocked off and go to the comb maker, who knocks out the pith and sells it to the glue manufacturer, who is ever ready to take all the refuse from any part of the steer. The horny coverings of the hoofs are almost as useful as the horns for making buttons, etc., and the feet make oil and glue. The shinbone make the finest of bone handles for various purposes, and all the remainder of the bony structure which the butcher is unable to sell with the meat finds its way eventually to the manufacturer of bone fertilizer and bone black. With the bones there is usually considerable marrow, grease, and glue stock, all of which is used by the bone men in various ways. A few of the tails are absorbed in cold weather in the manufacture of ox-tail soup, but usually "the tail goes with the hide," and becomes spoiled for domestic use while lying around the tannery. Every scrap of the skin of the animal, even the pate, as the skin of the head is called, is used in one way or another, and the refuse of the tanneries forms an important part of the income of the establishments.

FOG SIGNALS.

At the Maritime Conference, which opened in Washington a few weeks ago, a suggestion was made that a signal system should be adopted indicating the course of a vessel in fogs. This could be done by musical signals through three notes—vessels going north sounding the rising scale; south the descending scale; east a single note, followed by the other two sounding together; and west all the notes together, followed by a single low note. Numerous letters on this subject were presented. Mr. HALL, of England, presented replies to a board of trade inquiry in regard to their practicability, which showed a strong opposition to the suggestion. One hundred and nineteen masters and ten owners and societies opposed the introduction of any compulsory system of sound signals; 48 masters and two owners advocated the adoption of simple signals; and 23 masters and one seamen's society advocated the adoption of a more complete system. The chief reasons given by those who object to the introduction of any system of signals are the confusion they would cause in crowded water, the difficulty of locating sounds in fogs, the false confidence they would give to officers in charge of vessels using them, and the considerable degree of skill and experience necessary to prevent the possibility of mistake in the event of any complex system being adopted. An article requiring reduced speed in fog was adopted, and in the discussion on this topic a German delegate, Dr. SIEVEKING, strange to say, advocated that in fogs vessels should be instructed to go at top speed. Capt. MENSING, also of Germany, said he had never known any company to give the officers of its ships orders to proceed in a fog only at such a rate as would maintain steerage way. He did not believe any company ever did give such orders. The consensus of opinion among captains of ocean vessels was that full speed was desirable at such a time. He insisted that it was safer to run fast than slow in fog, and that in case danger of collision was discovered the captain could get his vessel out of the way more certainly at high speed than at slow.

Several questions affecting the "rule of the road" in the relations of merchant vessels to warships were also under consideration. Mr. HALL, of England, proposed as an additional article that in the day time single ships should keep out of the way of three or more warships in order that no ship should break line of squadron, and that at night ships should for mutual safety endeavor to avoid passing through a squadron.

THE LAND OF MORMON.

The Governor of Utah in his annual report estimates the population of the territory at 230,000, an increase of 86,000 since 1880. During the last nine years, the foreign born population, numbering in 1880, 80,481, has been increased by Mormon immigration to 160,940. The aggregate assumed valuation of the property of incorporated cities and towns for 1889, is $30,596,000, with an indebtedness of $495,000. The tax collections for the public schools do not pay the expense of maintenance, and there is little or no prospect that this will be changed. The governor is led to this conclusion by the fact that the Mormon people, with entire unanimity, are quietly preparing for denominational schools, in which their children may be educated in theology. In addition to the ordinary system, state or county academies will be established under church auspices. In some of the school districts Mormon children have been withdrawn from the public schools and placed in church schools. WILFRED WOODRUFF, the President of the Mormon church, speaking of the establishment of church schools says: "We feel that the time has arrived when the proper education of our children should be taken in hand by us as a people. Religious training is practically excluded from the public schools. Personal of the books we value as divine records is forbidden. Our children, if left to the training they receive in these schools, will grow up entirely ignorant of these principles of salvation for which the Latter Day Saints have made so many sacrifices. To permit this condition of things to exist among us would be criminal." The governor recommends congress to place the control of the public schools in the hands of those who are friendly to the public school system. Should congress do so another howl will issue from the "saints."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

General ROBERTS, the hero of Afghanistan, is to succeed Prince EDWARD of Saxe-Weimar as commander of Her Majesty's forces in Ireland. The new commander is an Irishman and a gallant soldier.

Fully forty thousand spectators witnessed the sham fight and military review at Toronto. Among the military dignitaries present were Major-General Sir FRED MIDDLETON, Sir ADOLPHE CARON, and Lieut.-Colonel OTTER, D. A. G. The weather was fine, and the affair passed off very successfully.

This is how the Montreal Witness sums it up: The unfortunate man HARVEY, who now lies under sentence of death in Western Ontario for the murder of those nearest and dearest to him, and the Michigan farmer who succeeded in taking not only the life of his wife and daughter but his own, were impelled to commit these ghastly crimes by anxiety as to the future. These crimes reveal something of the intensity of the struggle for existence both in Canada and the United States. As their straitened circumstances are the result not so much of natural as of artificial conditions, should not some of the blame rest with those who license the few to plunder the many under the form of law and call it taxation?

A New York paper declares "that the writer or thinker who puts an old idea into a new and impressive form is fully as much of a public benefactor as the man who invents a new idea." All of us are borrowers. In the matter of mental and moral philosophy, we of this age seem to have no advantage of the thinkers and sages of 4000 years. Undoubtedly the changed conditions of life incidental to the march of material inventions have supplied the material for the expansion of a certain train of ideas, but as to insight into human nature the moderns are not one whit ahead of the civilization of thousands of years ago. Jokes, caricature, irony, sarcasm, wit and humor throve among the Greeks to that degree of excellence which the moderns have not yet succeeded in equalling much less surpassing. We turn to HOMER as the father of poetry and to HERODOTUS as the father of history, while it is perfectly certain that in regard to the occult sciences, and the position of the heavenly bodies these were fully understood by the Egyptians. There is in the language of the preacher nothing new under the sun. "The originality of history, philosophy and literature has consisted in putting old truths and aspirations into new forms."

When the British parliament passed the county councils act—a Radical measure introduced by a Conservative ministry—nobody appears to have been aware of the far-reaching effects it would produce in its operation. It has, however, given the people the very machinery they required to carry out reforms for which they long sighed, but which appeared, before the passage of the act, to be impossible without strong agitation and special legislation. These reforms are related principally to matters which municipal corporations in this country avoid interfering with if they can, or, when they do touch upon them, grossly mismanage. The English county councils are animated by a different spirit. They show small respect for vested interests that stand in the way of reform in the public interest, and have no tenderness in dealing with private corporations established for making money out of the general requirements of the community. Hoary abuses, that have blocked the wheels of progress for centuries are ruthlessly swept away. Buildings and localities voted common nuisances by general consent, on moral, sanitary or social grounds, are demolished or cleaned out with a sole view to public convenience and welfare. Another surprise was the number of radical-socialists who were elected to those councils, a fact which it taken to indicate the popularity of certain views among the people. But where the new influence is most particularly felt is in relation to gas, electric light, street railway and other companies using the public thoroughfares. The principle that the people should enjoy the profit arising from the services they pay for is boldly advanced, and, whenever possible, acted upon. It is held that each municipality should own and manage all its own services, not allowing any private concern to monopolize the streets and charge what they like. Great benefits are confidently expected to result from the act, as the powers conferred by it are being used with vigor and determination.

MEDICAL.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the LUNGS to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

ELECTRICAL.

ILLUMINATE

The Electric Light is, without doubt, destined to be

The Light of the Immediate Future.

It has proven itself more safe, convenient, cleanly and healthful than any other illuminants.

No ignition from match stumps. No oils to explode.

No gas-pipes to blow up. No soiling of goods.

No asphyxiation.

No vitiation of the air of offices or homes. It is strangely suggestive of recovered sunlight.

The secret of success in Electric Lighting centres in the coal pile.

A dollar saved in fuel is a dollar earned in dividends.

THE BALL ELECTRIC LIGHT AND MANUFACTURING CO.

of Toronto claim for their systems the ability to produce more light per horsepower of energy expended, than can be produced by any other system known. They guarantee their machinery to outlast other makes, while they are able to sell it at fully one-third less. They supply "arc" and "incandescent" apparatus, or both combined, in any sizes and quantity.

Long distance Incandescent Lighting a specialty. Isolated plants for factories, mills, and machine shops, furnished and set up.

Their 1000-candle power arc lamps a great success.

Prices and all information on application to their general western representative.

HON. JOHN ROBSON AND THE LADIES.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir:—Are you aware that the premier does not give the ladies of your beautiful city (the married ones at least) the credit of having common sense? Would you believe that D. Wilson, inspector of schools, ordered the teacher of Wellington school to turn out all the pupils under the age of six years, and gave as the reason that in cities they would send their two year old babies to the school, if the education department (whose head is Hon. John Robson) did not strictly prohibit all children under six years from attending graded schools. Yet in a graded school under the very nose of the education department there are children under six years attending. You will observe that Mr. Pope is commanded by the legislature (duty No. 11) to show in his annual report the number of pupils taught in each school district under the age of six years, yet you will look in vain in his annual report for such return.

Ought he not to forfeit one month's salary, or have his office closed and taste his own medicine? J. N. Muir.

THE COMMERCIAL METROPOLIS

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—From the Newcastle-on-Tyne Weekly Chronicle of September 7th last, I see, that a "Mr. John Bonner, Cordova street, Vancouver City, British Columbia," has written home to his friends in Newcastle, and the Chronicle prints an extract from his letter, from which I quote:

"I promised on leaving England to give you a correct account of Vancouver. Vancouver is now the acknowledged metropolis of the North Pacific. I got a situation the third day I was here, I was 19 days doing the journey, etc., etc."

I have written the editor of the Weekly Chronicle, by this mail, pointing out the fact that Mr. Bonner ignores all foreign ports on the North Pacific, such as San Francisco, etc., and that I confine myself in my remarks to this British province to call the attention of Mr. Bonner and other rash scribblers of his stamp, that it would be well to be sure you are accurate in your statements before publishing them and grossly misleading the enquiring public as to the true state of the case.

I refer the editor to the president of the board of trade's letter to the Canadian Gazette, October 17th, and quote the statistics as to "duties on merchandise" from Board of Trade's address to Lord Stanley, etc., and I thought if you favor me by inserting this, it might catch Mr. Bonner's eye before the Newcastle papers reach him and enable him to correct his error all the sooner. R. Plummer.

The following is the letter to which Mr. Plummer refers:

I promised on leaving England to give you a correct account of Vancouver. Vancouver is now the acknowledged commercial metropolis of the North Pacific—the meeting place of the Occident and the Orient, whose future is assured. Vancouver city, British Columbia, is situated not on Vancouver Island, but on the mainland of the province, and in the south-western corner. The principal part of the city occupies a peninsula, bounded on the north by the waters of Burrard inlet, and on the south by a small indentation, called False Creek; and on the west by English Bay, of which the other two are arms. Far beyond the limits of the peninsula thus defined, however, the city is fast extending to the east and to the south, across False Creek. There are about 13,000 inhabitants. It is in many respects one of the most remarkable towns on the Pacific slope of North America, the rapidly increasing importance of this young and enterprising city entitling it to more than passing notice. The site of Vancouver could scarcely have been better chosen for a large city. Its capacity for marine commerce can never be outgrown, no matter what magnitude it may attain, such is its adaptability to the demands of commerce, such are the means it has for focusing a large volume of business. The harbor opposite the city front is about three miles wide, and extends for more than twenty miles from Vancouver, and we want now a few factories of various kinds to set it agoing. The place is abounding in all kinds of minerals, and a few good builders and brick-makers, with a little capital would do well out here, and would in a short time make piles of money, as they say out here. A shipyard and a dry dock would do well, as there are none nearer than Victoria. There is a great demand for English domestic servants—wages from 10 to 15 dollars per month. Mechanics' wages run up from 2½ to 3 and 4 dollars per day of ten hours. I would not at present advise any parties having good situations to come unless they have friends here, or a little money to start with. If they have either or both of the above requisites, I should say come at once, as there are opportunities out here they will never have in England. I myself got, the third day I was here, a situation as foreman in a carriage factory. I may also tell you I was nineteen days in doing the journey—ten on sea, and nine on the railway, the longest single railway line in the world, being about four thousand miles. Of course, you may be sure I was not sorry when we steamed into Vancouver. I cannot describe to you the beauty of the scenery on the way, so I must close for the present, and if anything should come under my notice which would be of interest and benefit to intending emigrants, I shall write you further on the subject. The climate is beautiful—I should say summer all the year round. I have had many a ramble out in the bush since I came out, and many a chat with the Indians. They are rough-looking customers, but very quiet. Of course they are kept under, or it might be otherwise.

The Methods of Success.

There is no modern notion that more completely strikes at the root of wholesome sentiment of national and individual prosperity than the idea that many young persons are growing up with that industry, especially manual industry, is not quite respectable.

Whether idleness takes the form of lounging and street gossip that begets all kinds of vices, or of a dreamy sentimentalism that wastes life in vague fancies, or the busy idleness that occupies itself in attending to other people's business, all is pernicious in its effects as it is culpable in character.

The want of method and habit in early life is answerable for many evils to manhood. The youth accustomed to regular and industrious employment will seldom lose such habit in after life, while those who have been suffered to pass a desultory childhood will require extra fortitude and strength of character to become persevering, energetic and industrious in after life. A determination of character, a firmness of principle, which tries to do that which is right instead of that which is temporarily agreeable is the great safe guard against evil. Impulsive exertions may sometimes produce magnificent deeds; but without methodical and steady resolutions, without system and habit and strength of will, but little permanent good or usefulness is ever accomplished. It is only in the cultivation and improvement of our faculties that we can properly enjoy any of them. The large number of instances show the vice of idleness to be the result of luxurious habits, which break down the native energy of character. The person who regards momentary gratification as the chief good will soon lose the vigor and enterprise necessary to undertake and the perseverance to carry through any scheme requiring industry and self-command.

License Cases.

Several cases for infraction of the License by law took up much time of the police court magistrate this morning.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all, and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

Nanaimo Voters.

The recent efforts to obtain the registration of eligible persons as Dominion and Provincial voters, says the Free Press, has resulted up to the present, in over 200 names being added to the list for this city and district. It is estimated that there are at least 500 more whose names could be on those lists, but through apathy and other reasons they neglect or decline to place their names thereon.

The Ferry.

The Islander left Vancouver for Victoria at 2:50 p.m. to-day.

A Child's Death.

Jane, the infant daughter of Mr. Geo. Hampton, died of whooping cough this morning aged two years. The parents have the sincere sympathy of many friends in their great sorrow.

The Jail Investigation.

The enquiry into the conduct of officials at the provincial jail was concluded to-day. Judge Drake will take the evidence under consideration and forward his decision to the government.

Railway Shares.

The Canadian Pacific Railway shares advanced 1¼ since Tuesday, and are now 71¾ in New York and 73¼ in London. Northern Pacific have advanced ¼, and are now 32¾ in New York.

Country Residence.

It will be seen by reference to the advertising columns that tenders are called for the construction of a two-and-a-half story residence at Quamichan for J. C. Prevost, Esq. Mr. Ridgway Wilson is the architect.

Result of the Explosion.

A force of men were busy to-day digging out the exploded gas main on Wharf street. The pipes are found to be very badly shattered and broken, and will have to be renewed. The work will be gone on with at once.

Tea in Victoria West.

A tea and entertainment will be given on Friday evening at 7:30 at the Victoria West church school. A good programme is provided and the funds are in behalf of the new church. A generous attendance would be appreciated.

Around the World.

Colored posters announcing the appearance here of the company which is to perform the great spectacular play of "Around the World in Eighty Days," are now up on all the boardings. The play is old but it is a most fascinating one.

For the South.

The Umatilla sailed for San Francisco at one o'clock this afternoon with the following passengers from this port: H. Patsch, Thos. Jones, J. L. Morton and wife, Mrs. Partridge and family, N. Howbotham, Miss Jessie Fowler, Mrs. Ladner and four children.

Good Prices.

Yesterday one acre of land adjoining the mill property of Messrs. Brackman & Ker, of Saanich, was sold for $350. This is indicative of good prospects in that neighborhood, as other lots are being enquired for. Saanich will soon be a hustling suburban town, no doubt.

Those Seal Skins.

Mr. W. J. Taylor, of Eberts & Taylor, on behalf of Mr. Morris Moss, appeared before Mr. Justice Drake to-day to raise the injunction on the seal skins of the Mollie Adams, which was granted. The skins were shipped this morning on the Umatilla for San Francisco.

Property Sold.

The house and about half an acre of ground on View street opposite the residence of ex-Mayor Fell, has been disposed of by James D. Robinson, ex-city clerk, to a Mr. Hines, a wealthy gentleman from Honolulu. The consideration was $2,500 which is considered an excellent figure for the vendor.

An Explanation.

Mr. Jamieson, of the corporation service, desires to state that his daughter, Miss Agnes, has not entered the convent for any other purpose than to complete her education, which will be done in due course of time, when she will return to the paternal roof. An idea was prevalent that the young lady had renounced the world, but this, Mr. Jamieson says, is not so.

City Sidewalks.

During the past two months about one and a half miles of new sidewalk has been laid down by the corporation carpenter, in various directions. The work is still going on in the upper part of Yates street. The Work estate has been well improved in regard to sidewalks, 1400 feet of six foot sidewalk having been laid. Henry street comes in for 830 feet of six foot sidewalk, Bridge street 800 feet, and Ellis street 700 feet, all of six foot width.

Happy Hearts.

A quiet bridal party left the Occidental hotel last evening, the principal actors in the event being Mr August Peterson, of Crescent Bay, Wash., and Miss Angela Williams, daughter of Mr. W. Williams, of this city. They were accompanied by several friends, who were present at the marriage ceremony. The happy pair will make their home at Crescent Bay, returning there in a day or two.

The First Reception.

The reception to Bishop and Mrs. Sillitoe, in honor of the tenth anniversary of his consecration and the foundation of the diocese, held at New Westminster on Wednesday evening, was attended by about three hundred people. A very pleasant evening was passed, and the Bishop and Mrs. Sillitoe were the recipients of hearty congratulations on the success of their first congregational reception.

Last Rites.

The remains of the late respected Arthur Vipond were interred this morning, the funeral leaving the family residence, Fisgard street, at half-past ten. A number of pioneers were present to view the face for the last time, and a numerous assemblage followed the hearse to the grave. Services for the dead were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Starr. The pallbearers were: F. Campbell, sr., J. G. Taylor, S. A. Spencer, J. Meldrem, T. G. Rayner and J. Bullen.

Others Will Bid.

The Gamewell fire alarm system, which was to have been up and in order some time ago, is still lying at the outer wharf packed in the boxes it was shipped here in. For some unknown reason the company at 'Frisco have neglected to send men to put the wires and boxes up, and it is the intention of local dealers to put in a bid to supply a fire alarm system, as the time has elapsed in which the Gamewell people were to do the work, and no extension has been applied for or granted.

Golden Sands.

Mr. Oliver, the assistant manager of the Fraser River Gold Dredging Co., is now located at Yale awaiting the arrival of the dredging machinery which is expected next week. Timber is being taken out for rafts and booms to be used in connection with the dredging operations, and it is expected that all will be in readiness for a start before the end of the year. It is not likely, however, that operations on an extensive scale will be commenced until Spring opens.—Columbian.

Sale of Work.

The ladies of St. James' church will hold their annual sale of work in the Cathedral school room on Wednesday the 4th December. An unusually fine assortment of their handiwork will be offered for sale, and in the evening lovers of music will be entertained by some of the best local talent. The ladies always devote much time and care in preparing for this yearly event, and well deserve a repetition of the liberal patronage they have hitherto received.

Probably all Right.

Some anxiety is being felt over the safety of Capt. Douglas of Saanich, who left there for Vancouver in a sailing scow loaded with bricks, some ten or twelve days ago. Parties who know the captain say that alarm is unnecessary as in his movements he is quite eccentric, as often if he encounters a head wind he will run to some sheltered bay among the islands of the straits and go off ashore for a week's shooting. He is known to be a careful sailor, and is well acquainted with the local waters, and it is believed he will turn up all right.

HARVEST SOCIAL.

A New Hall Opened in Metchosin With a Social.

The harvest social given by the residents of Metchosin district was held on Tuesday last, when the new hall was used for the first time. A representative gathering consisting of nearly all the residents of the neighborhood, with a few visitors from Victoria, spent a pleasant evening. A good supper was provided, which was followed by music and dancing. Several ladies and gentlemen sang at intervals, which gave variety to the proceedings. The Rev. W. A. H. Ellison, Rector of Esquimalt and Metchosin, in a few words expressed his pleasure at being present and congratulated the residents on the successful completion of their new hall, which he hoped would prove useful for purposes of both an intellectual and a social kind. He said, "to unite the residents of so scattered a district, and to bring them together in social harmony under the same roof, was the great object they had in building that hall." In conclusion he moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Helgeson, who had been the chief promoters in the evening's amusement, and to Mr. Parchase, of H. M. S. Swiftsure, who at some difficulty had come from Victoria and amused them with several songs. The vote of thanks was heartily given.

A HUGE SUCCESS.

The Scholars' Concert Last Night Draws a Big House.

The concert by the scholars of the High and public schools, given at the Victoria theatre last night drew a crowded house, and many were unable to obtain even standing room, consequently the fund for the gymnasium has been swelled considerably.

The entertainment, too, was one which kept the large audience in the best of humor throughout; the first part of the evening music and recitations were given, the opening chorus of thirty voices being especially good. Recitations, selections from Tennyson and vocal solos of a choice character were listened to with great pleasure, the piano duet, by the Misses Frank being very much appreciated, as were the selections from Lucia de Lammermoor by the Masters Hall. The girls from the first and second divisions gave a very pretty rendering to "Sweet and Low," followed by a piano duet by Misses Haynes and Heisterman.

Little Alex. Vaughan and Gertie Heal, attired to a fashion of the past century, captivated the audience by the neat style in which "Where are you going my pretty maid," was given. The "Robin Redbreast" chorus by twenty of the smaller boys was also well sung. "Alone," as sung by Miss Harrison, was heartily appreciated, and although a difficult piece was well given. Misses Davey and Hayward delighted the audience with a piano duet. Master Clarke's recitation of "Mrs. Tubbs takes an elevator," convulsed the audience with laughter, while the trio and chorus sung by the young ladies of the high school was much enjoyed.

A fairy story play filled the second part of the programme, and the young actors and actresses all acquitted themselves in a manner of which no professional would be ashamed. Masters Tiedeman and Berkley took the male leading parts of the piece and did it well; the Misses Bailey, Gandin, Kettle, Spring and Underhill each also enacted their parts to perfection, the dancing of the latter being especially good.

Great credit must be given to those who have had the training of the scholars as the success is certainly largely attributed to the labor expended in that way. Mr. Offerhaus has been untiring in his efforts, and it must be a pleasure to him to find that the work brought about such good results. Prof. Sharpe has also been hard at work, lending his valuable assistance towards the event, and shares the honors with Mr. Offerhaus.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

A Resume of Events in the Sporting Arena.

SIR.—I don't think that justice was done to me by your report in last evening's paper. If it is true that Cameron's arm was not well, all I have to say is that I am prepared to make another match with him at any time he thinks his arm is well enough to wrestle. The report also states that the "first fall could hardly be called one, because it took place in the wings." Now, in the rules of "catch-as-catch" a man picked off the canvas in a flying fall and thrown constitutes a fall, so long as the two shoulders touch down, no matter whether it is on the canvas or not. Certainly Mr. Cameron must have known this or he would have objected.

D. S. McLEOD.

The report published in yesterday's paper probably did not give the above correspondent the credit he deserves, and his letter is therefore published in justice to him. In the match which he won on Wednesday night he forced the wrestling all the way through and showed himself to be the "solid man" that his friends have always claimed him to be.

FOOTBALL, RUGBY.

There will be a match to-morrow afternoon between the navy and a team composed of the following: Rogers, Ward, Fisher, Roberts, Barnard, Martin, Drake, Hibben, Pemberton, Crease, Langley, Allison, Earsman, Kennedy, and Fawcett. Play will commence at 3 o'clock on the ground near the barracks, Beacon Hill. All members of the Victoria team are requested to wear the club colors, black and gold.

Local footballers are getting in good work just now, and are practicing hard, as they hope to arrange a match with the mainland clubs at an early date. The Juniors will play the Cornig school in a few days.

FELL THROUGH.

The four days go-as-you-please was wound up last night at 10 o'clock. This was on account of insufficient support, the public not seeming to take much interest in that kind of a contest, it being out of fashion, as it were. At the wind-up Taylor was in the lead with fifty miles, and Watson close on his heels with over forty-nine.

NOTES.

A polo game will be played at the hill to-morrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. A lemon cutting match will also be on after the game is over.

MORE RACES.

The Law brothers will pull McLean and Murray, Quinn and Paine are also looking for a race with the Westminster men.

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of the Movements of Well Known Persons.

A. H. B. Macgowan, of Vancouver, came down last night.

H. Langelier, representative of a Montreal firm is in the city.

Capt. McKiel, who has been ill for some days has recovered sufficiently to again be out.

A. R. Johnston, of Nanaimo, and W. H. Mason came over from Port Angeles last evening.

Col. Henry Landes, of the Port of Entry, is enjoying the beauties of Victoria for a brief spell.

Mr. George Simon requests us to state that he is not a partner in the new firm "Leet, Dambleton & Co."

Mr. C. E. Macy, General Agent for Evans Bros. Piano and Manufacturing Co. is stopping at the Delmonico.

S. J. McNaughton, of Portland, arrived in the city last evening to be present at the funeral of the late A. Vipond.

Ed. Metcalfe and Mrs. Metcalfe, former residents of this city, came over from Port Townsend yesterday on a visit.

John Elliott leaves this evening for his home in Collingwood. Out on a visit from which he will not return alone. We wish him much happiness in his prospective partnership.

sider that reliance should have been placed on the position fixed on indicator at 11:14? A—Yes, as far as I am able to judge.

Q—Having your position accurately fixed, would you consider it advisable, in fit weather to steer for Keelut Bluff with a view to making it? A—Yes.

Witness, Michael Brady, sworn—Q—Were you stationed at one of the engine-room telegraphs during the forenoon of the 5th Nov. A—Yes.

Q—What alteration did you make to the telegraph to the best of your memory? A—I made none from the time the ship was on her course till Keelut Bluff was reached.

Q—Would it be possible for the indicator bells to be rang without your hearing it? A—Yes.

Q—Are you in charge of the indicator? A—No.

Q—What messages do you remember were sent from the captain to the engineer? A—None that I remember. The messenger was Dyer.

Q—Do you think it possible to move the indicator on deck without ringing the bell in the engine room? A—Not in the state of the indicator at that time.

Q—(defence) What is the answering signal to the mechanical telegraph? A—Two strokes of the bell unless ordered to the contrary.

Q—(defence) What is the answering call to the Lloyd's indicator? A—Two rings on the electric call bell.

Q—Are both these answers the same? A—To the best of my knowledge, yes.

Q—(defence) State your position when the Governor General came in and the time. A—(1st) On the platform between the two engine rooms; (2nd) about 11:15.

Q—(defence) Had you every confidence in the man stationed at the indicator? A—Yes.

Q—(defence) Had this man any other work to do? A—Nothing, excepting to assist at the wheel if orders came to stop or reverse.

Q—(defence) If the man was liable to assist at the wheel would he then be in a position to see the indicator? A—Yes.

Q. (defence)—Would extreme attention be required in consequence of the noise of the machinery to hear the electric bell of the indicator? A—Yes, while the vessel was running at high speed.

Q. (defence)—Were you satisfied the man in charge of the indicator had nothing to do to distract his attention? A—Yes.

Witness W. S. Glawville sworn.

Q—Where were you stationed between 11 and 12 o'clock on the forenoon of the 6th inst? A—In the port engine room.

Q—What were your duties? A—To stand by the reversing wheel and to look after the indicator and telegraphs.

Q—Was the Lloyds' indicator moved during that time? A—No.

Q—Are you positive it could not have been moved without your knowing it? A—Yes.

Q—What number was the indicator at? A—85.

Q—When the telegraphs ordered full speed astern was Lloyds' indicator at 85 revolutions? A—Yes.

Q.—Was the telegraph altered before the ship struck? A.—Yes, to half-speed ahead, then to half-speed astern, then to full-speed astern.

Q. (Defence)—Did you see His Excellency the Governor-General in the engine room about 11:20? A.—Yes.

Q. (Defence)—Did you return to your post on the platform while His Excellency was there? A.—Yes.

Q. (Defence)—Was your attention called to a voice from the fore stokehole? A.—Yes.

Q. (Defence)—Why did you answer it, since it was not your duty? A.—Because the officer of the watch was looking after something.

Q. (Defence)—Do you mean that the officer of the engine-room was not on the platform? A.—No; the officer was on the platform. He could not answer because he was busy.

Q.—When you were away where were you? A.—In the aft engine-room.

Q.—What were you doing there? A.—Delivering a message paper.

This concluded the evidence of this witness. Court adjourned at 1:20.

FROM NANAIMO.

Sowden's Body Brought In—A Toilsome Journey.

Nanaimo, Nov. 14, 7 p.m.—A party of 15 men left town this morning early, determined to bring in the body of Hugh Sowden this evening, and arrived at the camp of the previous night, where the body was left in charge of four men. This made a company of 19 men, and after hard hours of toil arrived in the city to-night at 6 p.m. with the body, making the long, tedious and toilsome journey of 16 miles over mountains and ridges in 27 hours. The funeral takes place to-morrow. The K. of L. deserve great praise for the spirit shown in this affair. Calvin Ewing Lodge did its duty to the dead.

DIED.

HAMPTON.—In this city, at the parents' residence, Cook street, Jane Hampton infant daughter of George and Jane Hampton; aged 2 years and 11 months.

The funeral will take place on Saturday, at 2 p.m. Friends invited.

READ THIS

Concerning the famous

Mason & Risch Pianos

Which the firm are constantly shipping to all parts of the world. That prominent musical authority, Walter E. Wall, Esq. (Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, London, England, and now organist of St. John's cathedral, Denver, Colorado), writes:

After a thorough testing of considerable severity of touch, I can safely say that I am thoroughly satisfied with the fine instrument you have selected for me. In tone and touch I never met a better piano, and shall, as soon as possible, dispose of the Weber Grand I have, to possess one of yours for my own private use. To-day the instrument had almost a semi-public examination by a skilled piano-tuner who is deeply interested in a firm here who are agents for Steinway, Weber, Knabe, Hardman, Fischer, Behmer, and a lot of other makers. It received at his hands "a pounding," not a playing, and he said as he finished, "Well, it is impossible to find the slightest fault with it. I think we'll try and get the agency."

Mr. Hall is not the only musician who has changed a piano of one of the noted makers of the United States for one of this firm's celebrated instruments, as the firm have now on hand at their warerooms a very large stock of second-hand pianos, among which are Steinway, Chickering's, Weber's, Hazelton's, and other first-class makers, which they have taken in exchange for theirs, which fact may be accepted as a fair indication of the merits of a piano which can thus displace those of high-class American manufacture.
